

Opinion, your op. on doctors, you do not trust them

“... trust not the physician;

His antidotes are poison, and he slays

More than you rob.” (TOA.4.3)

In the play. Two robbers stumble upon Timon who has retreated and retired to a wood. He talks with the robbers and almost converts them away from their profession, by inciting them to pursue it.